The Bosselman Enterprises Corporate office has officially moved into their new building on South Locust Street in Grand Island. The new office features waterfalls and an open patio in front, welcoming visitors to the expansive lobby. The office space is open and flowing, featuring several all-glass meeting rooms, a slide, and a large conference center for events. The entire office space covers around 56,000 square feet.

“We really wanted to design this to be a free and open space that offered a lot of opportunities for people to collaborate,” said Owner Charlie Bosselman.

Tommy Gunz Bistro is connected to the Corporate Office and is expected to open early 2018.
